BERGER SINGERMAN
FLORIDA'S BUSINESS LAW FIRM

EDISCOVERY

Electronically stored information (ESI) is an integral part of businesses and will only be even more prevalent because of emerging technology. From your physical electronics to cloud storage solutions and emails, companies and individuals rely on electronic information to record and drive their business.

Electronic discovery, or eDiscovery, is a major component of court and dispute resolution proceedings, impacting investigations and transactional work as well, because of the vast accumulation of electronic data. Berger Singerman has dedicated in-house attorneys and professionals with extensive knowledge and practical experience in eDiscovery. Our Firm has dedicated resources to provide firm clients with effective legal, technical, and strategic eDiscovery results. Our attorneys are supported by a team of dedicated technology professionals who have extensive experience in areas such as IT systems, project management, workflow engineering and cutting-edge legal technologies. Our eDiscovery team works firmwide to represent our clients' interests.

Berger Singerman’s eDiscovery attorneys and support professionals work alongside our approach-focused practitioners to provide our clients a thorough, cost-effective and goal-oriented eDiscovery resource.