Jonathan A. Ocampo is a member of the firm's Construction Team within the Dispute Resolution Group. He is Board Certified in Construction Law by The Florida Bar and focuses his practice on construction law and complex construction-related disputes, representing owners, developers, general contractors, subcontractors, design professionals, and suppliers throughout all phases of private construction projects.

Jonathan advises clients from pre-construction planning and contract negotiation through litigation, arbitration, and mediation. His experience includes construction defect claims, delay and schedule disputes, payment and lien foreclosure actions, bond and surety claims, and other contract-related controversies. He has served as first-chair trial counsel in lien foreclosure matters and has represented clients in multi-million-dollar arbitration proceedings.

With a practical and business-focused approach, Jonathan works closely with clients to mitigate risk, resolve disputes efficiently, and protect their interests in Florida's construction industry.
